Learn of Slavery’s Post Traumatic Scars
The Keokuk Campus African American Heritage Club and the Keokuk Association for Rights and Equality will be showing Dr. Joy DeGruy’s Post Traumatic Slave Syndrome this Tuesday, February 27th at 6:30 p.m. in Room 401. The public is invited, and a discussion of this film will follow. Refreshments will be available. Event is free.

Dr. DeGruy’s research and twenty years of experience as a social work practitioner and consultant to public and private organizations form the basis of the video. The theory of Post Traumatic Slave Syndrome suggests that centuries of slavery followed by systemic racism and oppression have resulted in multigenerational adaptive behaviors - some of which are positive, some of which are detrimental. This video presents facts, statistics, and documents that illustrate how varying levels of both clinically induced and socially learned residual stress related issues were passed along through generations as a result of slavery.

Thursday Is Scholarships Deadline
4:30 p.m. CDT, this Thursday, March 1st is the deadline to apply for one of many Southeastern Community College Foundation Scholarships. More than 400 scholarships totaling an estimated $300,000 will be available for the upcoming academic year. Application is online at www.scciowa.edu. Anyone who plans to attend or is considering attending SCC in the fall is encouraged to apply.

Also, the SCC Alumni Association urges any student who is graduating and transferring to apply for the SCC Alumni scholarship. Yearly this scholarship money goes untapped because students don’t apply. Take the time to fill out the application at www.scciowa.edu/alumni/sccaa/sccaa-scholarships.aspx.

Think Summer at SCC!
Work on your tan and your degree this summer! Registration for summer classes is underway. Check out the course schedule online and register via HawkNet or make an appointment in Enrollment Services with Kari or Abby today.

Final Basketball Home Game Wednesday

Hoodie-Hoo Day a Soggy One
by Lyndsay Arrowood - Staff Writer
It started out as a cold, rainy Tuesday in February, and it seemed to only get colder. Under the flag pole at high noon, a group of heavily coated, noise-maker-bearing individuals yelled to the North, East, South, and West, "Hoodie-Hoo!" I learned in my time with them that this is an effective way to scare off Old Man Winter and, although the temperature seemed to drop with each "hoodie-hoo," it was a very invigorating and empowering experience that I plan to participate in again.

Goodbye, Old Man Winter. Please come back to us, Spring.

Science Trivia Goes Stagnant

This is the third week for this trivia question that seems to have the entire school stumped. You can do it! Think hard and study up on your science to figure it out: Submit the term for microorganisms that feed of of detritus. You have the power to learn anything you want. Answer correctly and you win a prize. Now that should be enough motivation.
